FINALLY PERMITTED TO WED GUNBOAT.

Mrs. Gunboat Smith.

Miss Helen Remley, the pretty seventeen-year-old New York girl, and Gunboat Smith, the champion white hope pugilist, are now man and wife. But it took for a while as if they would have to defer their wedding plans. When they first applied for a license in Chicago they were refused on the ground that the girl was too young to marry without a guardian's consent. This difficulty, however, was patched up later and they were married last Saturday in the Windy City. They are now on their honeymoon.

COURT DECISIONS.

J. M. Kessler of South Kansas Avenue Wins His Straight Roads Case.

A lot of decisions and judgments were handed down today by Judge A. W. Dana of the district court, chief among them being refusal to issue an injunction against the city in the J. M. Kessler case. The ruling means that Kessler's fence, and a part of his greenhouse are placed comfortably in the public road. Mandate will be issued ordering the florist to remove his property before South Kansas avenue is paved. The case has been under advisement for months.

New trial was granted in the case of Ira C. Snyder against the National Vending Machine company. Judge Dana accused the jury of flagrant misconduct and absolute disregard of the instructions of the court. Charles Spencer, who was recently appointed receiver for the Southwestern Furniture company has been ordered to sell the property and pay the company's claims.

The Kessler case attracted wide attention. When the city decided to pave South Kansas avenue, it was discovered that the center section line did not bisect the road; that the road, in short, had been laid out by the public, instead of the county commissioners. Mr. Kessler declared that the road had been traveled for more than fifteen years, and was therefore a road by prescription.

Mrs. Kessler dramatically pointed out that the city wanted to make a straight road crooked; wanted to run a pavement through his greenhouse, and prayed injunction against Kansas avenue from Twenty-first street being paved according to the municipal survey.

The road has been the subject of numerous lawsuits in the supreme, as well as the district courts. Judge Dana refused to issue the injunction against the city, and granted W. C. Balgates request for a mandatory order requiring Mr. Kessler to place his greenhouse where the city declares it belongs.

When the city attempts to make lasting improvements, no small consideration, no minor consideration should be allowed to prevent it," was the holding of the court.

Declaring the jury did not confine itself to consideration of testimony, and flagrantly disregarded the court's instructions, Judge Dana granted a new trial to the National Vending Machine company, the Kansas Vending Machine company and C. W. Hull in case filed against them by Ira C. Snyder. Snyder asked $5,000 of each defendant, and received a verdict of $25,000. He was a promoter for the sale of stock, and demanded damages for alleged breach of contract.

Several pages of findings were filed in the district court by Judge Dana in the case of the German American bank and the Southwestern Furniture company. The bank held chattel mortgage for $15,000 on the company. The president of the company turned over the stock to the bank. The bank was restrained from taking possession. Charles Spencer was appointed receiver for the furniture company, who has been ordered to pay to the bank $18,331 on real estate, sell the company's property, and render judgment for the various creditors.

Numerous motions for new trials were overruled, among them the Cox Planning Mill's request for a rehearing of the case brought against it by W. M. Pedrick, who asked $4,500 for the loss of a finger. The jury gave him $1. The court refused to accept the verdict. Pedrick was awarded $250. The court let the decision stand.

LEGISLATIVE CLUB.

Not for Partisan Purpose, Says President.

To the Editor of the State Journal: An announcement has been made of a meeting of the Kansas Legislative club to be held at the Christian church in this city on the 28th of this month. The Kansas Legislative club is quite a new organization, having come into existence on the 28th of November last, at which time the writer was chosen to be its first president.

So far as I know the club is not as yet possessed of any constitution or by-laws and is in a somewhat incipient condition, and hence there is probably no regular manner provided for calling a special meeting. I wish to state, however, that I am not in any way responsible for this meeting and in my judgment, there is now no exigency which calls for such a meeting and I wish to disclaim any connection with such proposed meeting.

The Kansas Legislative club was intended to be, as I understood it, a wholly unpartisan organization. I fear that there is some disposition to use this, as well as certain other non-partisan organizations of women, in the interest of a certain branch of the Republican party. If there be any such disposition, I desire to express my strong dissent from any such effort.

CAROLINE R. DOSTER,
President Kansas Legislative Club.

It is understood that in opposition to the wishes of the president, the secretary, Mrs. Lilla Day Monroe, has called a meeting of the Kansas Legislative club to meet on the evening before the Kansas Day club will meet. It is stated that this meeting next week is really for partisan purposes in the interest of Republicans as candidates; that inasmuch as the legislature will not be in session until next year the meeting of this club is, just now, unnecessary and inopportune.

PLAN TO END WARS.

Union Miners Would Stop Them by a General Strike.

Indianapolis, Jan. 24.—Laws to prohibit further immigration until all surplus laborers in the United States are fully employed were favored by a resolution adopted at the convention of the United Mine Workers of America today. The resolution was introduced by the Roslyn, Wash. union.

Another resolution expressing sympathy for the striking copper miners in Michigan was adopted without debate. The abolition of international wars by means of a general strike was proposed in a resolution introduced by Dunham McDonald of Illinois. The resolution was adopted and referred to the international mining congress. McDonald declared it the only method to stop international wars. He praised the work of Andrew Carnegie for international peace but he said that the burden of carrying on wars, both in money and life, fell on the laboring classes.

McDonald presented another resolution instructing the international officers to call on the federal government to purchase coal for the battle ships only from mines where "miners are employed eight hours a day and where humane conditions obtain."

The resolution states the government for a number of years has been purchasing fuel for the navy from nonunion mines of the Virginias, Maryland and that vicinity. The resolution was unanimously adopted.
